How to run the interview (about 20–30 minutes)

1. Introduce yourself and Handled; explain it's a short conversation about their work, and that they'll hear back within 2 business days.
2. Ask the core questions (section 3), then 2–4 questions for their trades (section 4). Use your own words; one follow-up if an answer is vague.
3. Write down what they actually say — those notes are your evidence for each score.
4. Leave time for their questions. Don't promise approval.
5. Score right after (sections 5–6), then enter it in the Hub.

The same questions are used everywhere. The AI interviewer, the Hub scorecard (Hub → Recruiting → the candidate → “Interview them myself”) and this packet all come from one list, so every candidate is judged the same way. A person makes every decision. Enter your scores in the Hub afterwards so they're on the candidate's record.

1. How a pro gets approved

1. Applies at /pros. An AI screen of their business qualifications.
2. Screening interview: the AI interviewer (a private link by email, about 15 minutes, English or Spanish), or you, in person or by phone, with this packet.
3. A person decides: invite to set up · follow up first · not now.
4. Setup in the pro portal: W-9 · independent contractor agreement · specialties · work area & days · insurance certificate (general liability, plus coverages their trade needs) · workers' comp or a no-employees statement · trade license where required · photo ID check · background check (consent through the screening provider) · payout method.
5. Documents verified and background check clear → approved to receive job offers.
6. First jobs are probation: smaller jobs, a human review of each, and a call to the customer.

Wording. Pros run their own businesses. Say “approved”, not “hired”. They choose their jobs, days, area, methods and tools. Don't promise a number of jobs or an income; any pay figure before approval is an estimate.

2. Never ask about

- | | |
|---|--|
| • ✗ Age or date of birth
Edad o fecha de nacimiento | • ✗ Height, weight or genetic information
Estatura, peso o información genética |
| • ✗ Race, color, ethnicity, national origin, birthplace or accent
Raza, color, etnia, origen nacional, lugar de nacimiento o acento | • ✗ Arrests or criminal history (the background check handles this, with notice and a chance to respond)
Arrestos o antecedentes penales (la verificación de antecedentes se encarga de esto, con aviso y oportunidad de responder) |
| • ✗ Citizenship or immigration status
Ciudadanía o estatus migratorio | • ✗ Military discharge type
Tipo de baja militar |
| • ✗ Religion or religious holidays
Religión o días religiosos | • ✗ Credit, debts, bankruptcy, or past pay
Crédito, deudas, bancarrota o pagos anteriores |
| • ✗ Sex, gender identity, sexual orientation
Sexo, identidad de género, orientación sexual | • ✗ Union membership or political views
Afiliación sindical u opiniones políticas |
| • ✗ Marriage, pregnancy, children or childcare
Matrimonio, embarazo, hijos o cuidado de niños | • ✗ Language ability beyond what the job needs (we work in English and Spanish)
Habilidad con idiomas más allá de lo que el trabajo requiere (trabajamos en inglés y español) |
| • ✗ Disability, health, medical history, medications, workers' comp claims
Discapacidad, salud, historial médico, medicamentos, reclamos de compensación laboral | |

If a candidate brings one of these up, don't follow up and don't let it affect the decision. Ask everyone the same core questions. Score what they said, not accent, grammar or which language they use. If someone asks for an accommodation (more time, a phone interview, an interpreter), say yes.
